Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 25 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A wet and breezy Friday will be feeling cool.

Today:
Generally, a wet murky day with widespread rain across the region turning heavy and potentially thundery at times. It will be breezy for some and feeling rather cool. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain easing to patchy light rain and drizzle this evening as some areas, especially further south, become dry. Some clear spells then developing overnight with winds calming. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Saturday:
Often dry with patchy cloud and some sunshine on Saturday, although with a few showers at times. These showers more likely in the afternoon. Feeling warm. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Becoming settled from Sunday to Tuesday, staying largely dry throughout with light winds, plenty of sunshine, and feeling warmer too.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.